Proper Citation: Magnetics Information Consortium (RRID:SCR_007098)

Description: Databases that accept and provide access to paleomagnetic and rock magnetic data. The paleomagnetic data range from individual measurements to specimen, sample or site level results, including a wide variety of derived parameters or associated rock magnetic measurements. The rock magnetic database includes data collected during rock magnetic experiments on remanence, anisotropy, hysteresis and susceptibility. The MagIC Console Software provides an effective environment in Microsoft Excel where users can collate and prepare their paleomagnetic and rock magnetic data for uploading in the Online MagIC Database.

Abbreviations: MagIC

Synonyms: Magnetics Information Consortium (MagIC), MagIC Portal, MagIC database

Resource Type: service resource, data or information resource, data repository, database, software resource, storage service resource

Keywords: paleomagnetism, rock, magnetic, paleomagnetic, geomagnetic, rock magnetic

Funding: NSF EAR 0202996;
