Description: This study will include 5000 individuals recruited from The National Quality Register for Bipolar Disorder (Bipol??R) and The National Patient Register (Patientregistret) from which subjects with two or more hospitalizations with bipolar disorder will be eligible for inclusion. Bipolar disorder (manodepressive illness) is an often devastating neuropsychiatric disorder associated with considerable morbidity, mortality, human suffering, and societal costs. Genetic epidemiological studies provide indirect evidence of the importance of inheritance as bipolar disorder is clearly familial. Sample types * EDTA whole blood * DNA * Plasma Number of sample donors: 915 (June 2010)
