Proper Citation: Phenotypes and eXposures Toolkit (RRID:SCR_006532)

Description: Set of measures intended for use in large-scale genomic studies. Facilitate replication and validation across studies. Includes links to standards and resources in effort to facilitate data harmonization to legacy data. Measurement protocols that address wide range of research domains. Information about each protocol to ensure consistent data collection. Collections of protocols that add depth to Toolkit in specific areas. Tools to help investigators implement measurement protocols.

Abbreviations: PhenX Toolkit

Synonyms: Phenotypes and eXposures Toolkit

Resource Type: catalog, data or information resource, data set, database, narrative resource, service resource, standard specification

Defining Citation: PMID:21749974

Keywords: PhenX project, genome, phenotype, genome-wide association study, genetic variation, genomic study, substance abuse, addiction, substance use, environmental exposure, disease susceptibility, outcome, bio.tools
