Proper Citation: Mastrave modelling library (RRID:SCR_014399)

Description: A software library written to perform vectorized scientific computing and oriented to ease complex modelling tasks such as those typically needed within environmental models, even when involving irregular and heterogeneous data series. The Mastrave project attempts to allow a more effective, quick interoperability between GNU Octave and Matlab users by using a well documented wrap around the main incompatibilities between those computing environments and by promoting a general idiom based on their common, stable syntagms.

Synonyms: Mastrave modeling library, Mastrave

Resource Type: software library, software resource, software toolkit
