Proper Citation: Nebraska-Lincoln University Center for Virology Bioinformatics Core Facility (RRID:SCR_017793)

Description: Facility is equipped with high performance computers, bioinformatics related software, biological databases, and data storage. Provides bioinformatics and computational services in virology, molecular biology, genomics, proteomics, next generation high throughput sequencing, and other biological related fields. For special requirements, can design and develop new algorithms, and implement programs and customize data processing pipelines. Core promotes education in bioinformatics to students and researchers, develops and delivers training material, including workshops that facilitate practical application of bioinformatics knowledge by students, postdoctoral fellows, and faculties in NCV community.

Synonyms: Bioinformatics Core at Nebraska Center for Virology

Resource Type: access service resource, core facility, service resource

Keywords: Virology, bioinformatics, computer, database, data, storage, develop, algorithm, program, training, service, core
