Proper Citation: University of Chicago Human Disease and Immune Discovery Core Facility (RRID:SCR_022936)

Description: Provides expertise, equipment and physical space for researchers to perform cutting edge, high resolution investigations of human immune system. Leverages innovative technologies from field of flow cytometry for data generation and analysis and through close collaboration with Genomics core facility to provide cellular component solutions to even higher resolution genomic investigations.

Synonyms: Human Disease and Immune Discovery, University of Chicago Human Disease and Immune Discovery

Resource Type: access service resource, core facility, service resource

Keywords: USEDit, ABRF, human immune system investigations, flow cytometry, data generation and analysis

Resource Name: University of Chicago Human Disease and Immune Discovery Core Facility

Resource ID: SCR_022936
